CLASS TYPES

Drop-in classes are ongoing and meet every week unless noted on schedule or canceled in advance (check online schedule often). Most drop-in classes are mixed-level and beginners are welcome, but new beginners may wish to start in a Basics class or series. All drop-in classes are included in class passes.

Drop-in/Community classes are offered on a sliding scale basis. $10-$20 suggested, but you may pay what you are able to. Class passes may also be used.

Drop-in/Prepay classes are held during times when there is no desk staff on site, so payment at the door is not possible. You MUST be prepaid (class pass or online payment in advance). New students please contact studio during office hours before attending.

Limited Enrollment classes are not included in drop-in class passes; advance registration and payment is required. Beginners may need to start with private training or basics series in order to advance to these semi-private classes.

Series classes are not included in class passes; advance registration and payment is required. Drop-ins may be possible if series is not full but you must call the studio to check availability each week.

Studio Rental classes are offered by third parties and are not included in MoveStudio class passes. Payment is directly through instructor or sponsoring organization (see “etcetera” on website for more info).
